RACIAL ISSUES IN CRIMINAL JUSTICE: THE CASE OF AFRICAN AMERICANS FROM CRIMINAL JUSTICE PRESS PDF

African Americans make up about half of the U.S. prison population, and almost a third of African-American men in the twenties are either incarcerated or under probation/parole supervision. The fourteen previously unpublished papers in this anthology illuminate the origins and dynamics of these disproportionate levels of confinement and supervision of African Americans by the U.S. criminal justice system. Chapter topics include: -- the harmful effects of racial profiling; -- the racist application of capital punishment; -- do African-American police make a difference? -- racial characteristics of offenders and victims in television programs; -- corollaries and consequences of "driving while black" policies; -- private prisons and minority incarceration; -- underrepresentation of African-American victims in hate crime research; -- racial bias in the trials of juveniles as adults; -- the myth of black juror nullification; -- affirmative jury selection for racial fairness; -- racial stratification in the academic discipline of criminal justice; and, -- an oppression theory critique of restorative justice.

we need better facts

By kathy

i think your facts are wrong about the percent of African Americans in the US.....also we need to stop using the word Minority as u state it for African American. Truth be told the Minority in this world are white people....don't get it twisted

The race card in scholarly clothing

By Tim Warren

I bought this book expecting the author to explore minority incarceration and it's causes as opposed to other racial groups and compare what factors contribute to disproportionate racial bias in arrest statistics. In short I was looking for an honest evaluation of the dynamics that cause more blacks to be arrested. What I got instead was a cover to cover complaint and accusation on how unfair and racist the criminal justice system is. The author even goes so far as to suggest that if a law is broken more frequently by blacks then the lawmakers are racist. I'm a racist for not buying into his rant and you're a racist for reading my review. Don't waste your money on this book.... you racist!
